

1 carry select adder has been presented in the following book

- computer organisation and architecture

2 floating point representation of values has been presented in the following two books

- computer organisation and architecture
- structured computer organization